Structure

Scope

The biannual Quantitative Infrared Thermography Conference (QIRT) is a meeting of the scientific and industrial community interested and actively working in research, application, and technology related to infrared thermography.

All Conference topics are intended for quantitative results comprising temperature values and further parameters on the tested materials and structures. The latter ones are usually obtained through active thermography, e. g. by exploiting non-stationary heat transfer processes activated by additional heat sources or by considering wavelength-dependent effects.

Passive and active thermography methods and technologies are spread now along a multitude of areas of applications, which all profit from each other.

Topics

- Applications of AI and CNN
- Biomedical applications
- Calibration and metrology
- Civil Engineering and Buildings
- Electronics and semiconductors
- Environment
- Fluid dynamics and energetics
- Image and data processing
- Induction thermography
- Industrial applications
- IR signature, Image Processing and Recognition
- Microscale applications
- Modeling
- Monitoring and maintenance
- NDE and its applications to composite structures
- Novel technique
- Photothermal techniques
- Remote sensing
- Thermographic Systems & Components
- Thermomechanics
- Vibrothermography
- Works of Art
